the paper of great importance. Some of the young called upon gathered together for National Council and election. If they fail to do this, all that they stand for will be lost. I speak tonight to those people in the United States of America who feel that the destiny of this country does not call for our involvement in European wars.

We must band together to prevent the loss of more American lives in these internal struggles in Europe. We must keep foreign propaganda from poisoning our country blindly into another war. Modern war, with all its consequences, is too tragic and too devastating to be approached from anything but a purely American standpoint. We should never enter a war unless it is absolutely essential to the future welfare of our Nation.

This country was colonized by men and women from Europe. The hardships, the persecutions, the sacrifices they left behind gave them courage to cross the Atlantic Ocean to a new land. They penetrated the wilderness and the Indians to the problems of Europe. They weighed the cost of freedom from those problems, and they paid the price. In this country, they eventually found a means of living peacefully together—the same nationalities that are fighting abroad today. The quarrels of Europe faded out from American life as generations passed. Instead of wars between the English, French and Germans, it became a struggle of the New World for freedom from the Old—a struggle that the right of America to find her own destiny. The colonization of this country grew from European troubles and her American spring from European war. We won independence from England while she was fighting Napoleon.

Washington Post Business

He was known as the "father of the navy" and was born in George Washington, D.C., in 1798. He was a member of the United States Navy and served as the first commander of the USS Constitution. He was also a member of the United States House of Representatives and served as the Secretary of the Navy from 1845 to 1849.

[illegible]

Now that war has broken out again, we in America have a decision to make on which the destiny of our Nation depends. We must decide whether or not we intend to become forever involved in this age-old struggle between the nations of Europe. Let us not include ourselves. If we enter the quarrels of Europe during war, we must stay in them in time of peace as well. It is needless to send our soldiers to be killed as we did in the last war if we turn the course of peace over to the greed, the fear, and the intrigues of European nations. We must either keep our of European wars entirely or stay in European of the permanently.

James Watson of 1931

In making our position on this point should be clear. There were no Europe are not wars in which our civilization is defending itself against some Asiatic intruder. There is no Genghis Khan or Tatars marching against our Western nations. This is not a question of banding together to defend the white race against a foreign invasion. This is simply not one of those age-old questions within our pale family of nations—a quarrel arising from the errors of the last year—from the collapse of the picture of that war to follow a consistent policy.

Arbitrary boundaries are not maintained by strength alone. The Treaty of Versailles had to be signed as the result of a coalition of the United States, England and France, the latter two countries being the most powerful, had to force Germany weak by force. After the war was followed, Europe was divided back and forth between the two. As a result, another war broke out, a war which is likely to be the most devastating that the world has ever seen.

ed, them to the center of Europe, we might as well extend them around the earth. An ocean is a formidable barrier, even for modern aircraft.

Our safety does not lie in fighting European wars. It lies in our own internal strength, in the character of the American people and of American institutions. As long as we maintain an Army, a Navy, and an air force worthy of the name, as long as America does not decay within, we need fear no invasion of this country.

Again, I address those among you who agree with this stand. Our future and our children's future depends upon the action we take. It is essential to think clearly and to act quickly in the days which are to come. We will be deluged with propaganda, both foreign and domestic—some obvious, some insidious. Much of our news is already colored. Every incident and every accident will be seized upon to influence us. And in a modern war there are bound to be plenty of both. We must learn to look behind every article we read and every speech we hear. We must not only inquire about the writer and the speaker—about his personal interests and his nationality—but we must ask who owns and who influences the newspaper, the news picture, and the radio station. If our people know the truth, if they are fully and accurately informed, if they are not misled by propaganda, this country is not likely to enter the war now going on in Europe.

Challenge to America

And if Europe is again prostrated by war, as she has been so often in the past, then the greatest hope for our western civilization lies in America. By staying out of war ourselves, we may even bring peace to Europe more quickly. Let us look to our own defenses and to our own character. If we attend to them, we have no need to fear what happens elsewhere. If we do not attend to them, nothing can save us.

If war brings more Dark Ages to Europe, we can better preserve those things which we love and which we mourn the passing of in Europe today by preserving them here, by strengthening them here, rather than by hurrying ourselves thoughtlessly to their defense over there and thus destroying all in the conflagration. The German genius for science and organization, the English genius for government and commerce, the French genius for living and the understanding of life—they must not go down here as well as on the other side. Here in America they can be blended to form the greatest genius of all.

The gift of civilized life must still be carried on. It is more important than the sympathies, the friendships, the desires of any single generation. This is the test before America now. This is the challenge—to carry on Western civilization.

GOEBBELS CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Just having listened to Charles Lindbergh's talk over the air--and contrasting it with one heard a few hours earlier from London by Winston Churchill--makes every True American squirm--that anyone as traitorous to every American ideal has the effrontery to speak to our people as an American--Lindbergh's speech should well win the plaudits of Goebbels--

The danger lies in the importance behind the name he once made famous as an outstanding American hero-- Since then however--perhaps through great personal tragedy and frustration--he has given evidence of a warped and perverted mentality in many utterances--to the extreme that he should bear watching--and places him in the category of Coughlin, Moseley and their ilk--

One thing occurs to me--above all else--he must be kept away from our air industry as I fear his influence might prove calamitous--

The home of Lindbergh's forbears has recently been mercilessly ravaged--yet he stands up and declares it matters not whether savagery or civilization is victorious--

At a critical time such as this--I feel he definitely has proven himself unworthy of the publicity and prominence he once was entitled to--

Gentlemen:-

I am writing to you and hope that you will turn this over to the proper party if it is not in your power to do something.

Why doesn't the Government immediately answer that crazy tirade of Lindberg's? Why let his ideas directly against the policy of the U.S.A. stay in people's minds! A speaker answering him and showing him up should be on the radio - and soon! What difference, he says, does it make who wins the war, - what difference! Would he like to be told what stations he could listen to on his radio what papers he would be allowed to read, and to feel the Gestapo would "get" you - and they do - if you dared say Germany wasn't right in this or that! Would he like that - he can criticize this Government publicly because it is the U.S.A. - our way of living - and I could go on indefinitely.

Please, please get after these complacent ignorant Americans - don't make it permissible for their ideas to get around. Squeech, contradict, show them up on the RADIO. You'd be surprised how many people listen to the radio and only glance at their papers.

And at a time like this when our country is getting ready to defend herself against the invaders, one of which is Germany, a celebration is held in North Bergen, N.J. in honor of Hitler and his bloody triumphs. We have a right to prevent these things. Send all Hitler lovers back to Germany - live under Hitler if they love him so much. No they make their living here in easy-going, generous America and laugh at her easiness.

I love my country that is why I am so disturbed. Do something about it.

Do not trust col. Charles A. Suedbergh.
I am sure France, Holland, Belgium

The President,

My Dear Mr. President

The time comes when certain statements, predictions and loud mouthed talk forces one to give vent to his feelings and that time has arrived in my life and I am not in the least reluctant to take the liberty of expressing myself or thinking out loud to you.

When a man like Lindbergh goes on the air, and because of his previously well earned and tremendous amount of favorable publicity, but without knowing anything at all about foreign affairs, takes it upon himself to tell this country what they should do or what they should not do, then, for one, I feel the time has come when he, and or his associates, the people that prepared his speech, should have their every action and expression scrutinized in a very serious and most critical searchlight fashion.

I fail to see the least sign of hysteria in anything that has been said or done by those clothed with authority so to speak.

Surely with all that has gone before, and that is now transpiring in Europe, we should not have a single person that considers himself or herself a true American but that would be at least minded along the lines of present day governmental suggestion and I hope wholehearted and most serious recommendations.

RECORDED & INDEXED

I feel very strongly that the time has now come when we should make certain once and for all that the peoples in this country are the kind of Americans that are waiting for the word to be said that would cause them to give of everything they have; if need be, in order that we may be fully and completely prepared to defend our fine, God loving peoples.

Needless for me, nor would I even think of trying to tell you or your advisors one single thing, and that is not my idea or thinking in connection with this dissertation, but I had to clear my mind and my thinking and my heart and my soul, and I have laid it wide open on the table, and if the time comes that I can be used to help

May I suffer repetition in order to say that I am most confident that within our own borders we have an increasing number of peoples that should be very thoroughly investigated from the standpoint of their loyalty to the Stars and Stripes, and I think this is just as important a job as that of getting ready in anticipation of Hitler world domination. Mr President:

The utterly preposterous and fantastic is the rule. We are living in monstrous times: It would not be at all surprising to find in Colonel Lindbergh, "the Nazi pet", a potential leader of a potentially victorious fifth column in this country. It does not particularly matter whether, at the moment, he is altogether aware of this trend in his own mind or not. The effect of this trend is giving and would give aid and comfort to the Nazi state... I recall that Colonel Lindbergh was by no means loath to receive a decoration from Hitler.

Planes, planes, and more planes is our cry. The United States' capacity to turn them out in great numbers may well be the determining factor in turning the tide, of European affairs, toward victory for the Allies, our virtual Allies.

I have read Walter Lippmann's "Time to Arm", May 20th. For many months, these articles by Walter Lippmann have been nothing short of prophetic. His is a voice crying in the wilderness. Let us trust that his crying will not be in vain.

War Might Cost Million Men Lindbergh Says

Speech to U. S. House
Warns Against Taking Part in Europe's Fight
Text of Address

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, last night appealed to Americans to stand fast against the country's entrance into the European war, warning that participation might cost "several million men—the best of American youth."

"If we enter fighting for democracy abroad," he declared, "we may end by losing it here."

Speaking over 30 major nationwide networks from a hotel room, with only a few friends present, the star delivered one of the exceedingly rare public utterances on "America and European War."

Thus he followed in the footsteps of his father, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., who as a member of Congress vigorously opposed United States entrance into the World War, which he regarded as "European."

Col. Lindbergh made no direct reference to the pending struggle for revision of the neutrality law, general side of American opposition to all countries.

But he made no mention about cost of entering this war, he said, "I mention that will not enough. We cannot meet our own needs by shipping abroad our abundant supplies and our own money."

"We are likely to lose a million men, possibly several million—the best of American youth."

"We have got to be prepared by ourselves to take care of our own people. We have got to be prepared to take care of our own people. We have got to be prepared to take care of our own people."

"We have got to be prepared to take care of our own people. We have got to be prepared to take care of our own people. We have got to be prepared to take care of our own people."

Col. Lindbergh, who has just concluded a tour of duty as a reserve officer, it was said officials had known nothing of his intention to make a speech until it was announced by the broadcasting corporation.

Elsewhere it was said the address was the outgrowth of suggestions at a private dinner attended by Lindbergh some time ago.

After the address, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh walked from the hotel to a nearby radio station to hear a transcription of his talk.

Before the broadcast, he talked to the radio technicians about how the portable apparatus operated.

While making the address, the colonel on the speaker's stand with both elbows, gripping the microphone with both hands, glancing only occasionally at the two microphones clamped to front of him.

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt,
White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

The writer is somewhat irked by the naive prating of the youngish
Colonel Lindbergh -

It would seem that in such perilous times, his opinions and utterances constitute a menace when the same are printed and sent forth over the air and in the newspapers for impressionable Americans to read, and be guided accordingly. Why, at least, is not some fitting muzzle clamped upon this diplomatic "squirt" who was evidently wine and dined by Messrs. Goering, Hitler, et al. in Berlin to the extent that he lost all allegiance to his own country? After all, the Colonel is a youngish person and entirely lacking in diplomatic background and training - a clever young man in his line, but a jumping jackass and dangerous person when allowed to pass upon anything else in which he has no concern. This fact, however, does not preclude him from influencing many otherwise patriotic Americans who just can't forget his lone flight to Europe - they still look up to him and shut out from view the beginnings of "Benedict Arnold" traits.

While the Department of Justice is not on everybody's trail these days, why don't they delve into the REAL REASONS for "Lindy's" obviously pro-German, pro-Nazi leanings? If, as he seems to be, he is sincere

...s lack of loyalty to this country, WHAT was the cause of it? He is virtue of his position and knowledge, in a place to do the United States great harm - what ground is there for the argument that he would not sell us out?

Such suspicions are not very nice, but nevertheless we have seen instances of treachery before, and the Colonel is, it seems, very contemptuous and sneering of his country's ability - just because he is highly placed and an American citizen and married to an Ambassador's daughter does not guarantee that he will not eventually turn traitor, or that he is not a potential chief of the fifth column! He hasn't been the same since he was entertained and impressed by Nazi Germany - they were pretty foxy, weren't they, when they cunningly captured the loyalty and affection of the young American aviator, whose words are literally soaked up by the youth of the U. S., and whose opinions are, in spite of his years, respected by sane citizenry! Verily, Berling could have no more astute Ambassador

Colonel Lindbergh - thus far, he has obeyed his instructions to the letter - and what's more he is defiant and disdainful of anybody to stop him. He preaches the "hands-off" doctrine, doesn't he? Well, what will be the ultimate result of an Allied defeat? Something worse than the 1939 panic! The United Kingdom markets will vanish, our foreign trade strangled, and our gold market ruined - Hitler will dictate these policies and strangle the country like he did Czecho-Slovakia - then, with want and poverty harrassing the citizens, the army of spies will divide the country into sections after first rendering the Panama Canal impotent.

a bright scene to contemplate, but it is harsh reality - and this young punk of a Lindbergh to blossom forth with utter drivel and irrelevant advice, calculated to impress the ignorant and appeal to the uneducated.

Why does not the FBI "tail" the Colonel and ascertain truly what the bird is up to? There must be some reason for his leanings - was he promised a realm of his own over here, or more iron crosses and decorations from the most brutal, fiendish, treacherous race of people whom God in one of his dishmop moods had the misfortune to create?

Anyhow, even though this note is tossed out the window - please don't make the American gentry over-nervous by placing the Colonel in a supreme position where he could wreck havoc with too much power - we wouldn't feel exactly easy if he were chief of the Air Defense or something - we would feel that he would, like an unscrupulous attorney, "sell us out" - he has definitely gone on record publicly and otherwise, as an ally and protege of Hitler's something for Messrs. Hitler, Goering, et al. to gloat over. Give him a high-sounding title but keep him definitely out!

Thank you.

Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

On June 13, 1940, Special Agent Francis P. Parker received a telephone call from one, FREDERIC SNYDER, who stated that he was a news commentator presently in Detroit to fulfill a speaking engagement and that he would like to speak to an Agent in this office. Mr. SNYDER further informed Agent Parker that he would call at the Detroit Office on this date. Accordingly, Mr. SNYDER came to the Bureau Field Office and advised that he was a world traveler raconteur and news commentator. Mr. SNYDER stated that he has travelled between this country and Europe for many years and that he has some reputation as an international lecturer and traveler. Mr. SNYDER offered the writer a handbill, which handbill states that Mr. SNYDER is the only man to twice be voted the most popular speaker at the Toledo Town Hall. This handbill stated that among the competition are ELSA MAXWELL, CLINTON FADIN, H. R. KNICKERBOCKER, CARL SANDBURG, CALETON BEALS, JAN MARYA, THOMAS KENT, RANET OF SARAJAK, JOHN MASON BROWN, DR. DAVID BERG and JAMES THOMAS WILLIAMS.

Mr. SNYDER further informed the writer that in 1934 he, SNYDER, had been responsible for Count CLARENCE VON ROSEN of Sweden and a member of the Royal House of Sweden, coming to the United States to exhibit some horses in the horse show at Madison Square Garden. SNYDER stated that he had been responsible for this trip and that he had completely planned the Count's itinerary while the Count was in the United States.

SNYDER stated that at that time the Count became acquainted in New York City with one, HAROLD VAN CLEEVE and that he had subsequently introduced SNYDER to HAROLD VAN CLEEVE. SNYDER stated he had dinner with VAN CLEEVE on a few occasions and that he subsequently learned that VAN CLEEVE was residing in Tampa, Florida. After an exchange of letters and a letter between he and VAN CLEEVE, VAN CLEEVE finally came to New York City and made arrangements with Mr. SNYDER to meet some friends and at a dinner at the HOTEL PENNSYLVANIA he introduced SNYDER to three very military appearing German men whose names SNYDER cannot remember. However, at this time VAN CLEEVE made an appointment with SNYDER the following day for lunch at HOTEL GUYENOR CLINTON and upon arriving at this hotel to fulfill the luncheon engagement, SNYDER was introduced by VAN CLEEVE to Dr. ROSENBERG, founder of the new religion in Germany, and one of the founders of the Nazi Party.

June 14, 1940

VAN CLEEVAN informed SNYDER that Dr. ROSENBERG was in this country on personal matters and was not using his own name and that he wished SNYDER to keep this meeting in confidence. At the time of this meeting, VAN CLEEVAN talked of many things to SNYDER and informed him that he and the three Germans he had met the previous day were in Tampa Florida developing an oil well as this was very productive oil country. SNYDER stated he laughed at VAN CLEEVAN for this statement and informed him that if there was any oil in Florida Sinclair would have gotten it long ago.

At this point VAN CLEEVAN informed SNYDER that oil was only secondary and that they were primarily interested in chemicals and they had erected a chemical plant at this place and that it was large enough to be productive and that some day America would hear of it.

DR. ROSENBERG took very little active part in this conversation but at the conclusion of it inquired as to the feeling of America toward Hitler. SNYDER stated that he informed Dr. ROSENBERG in a most vehement fashion that America and Americans did not approve of HITLER and his tactics. He stated that he and ROSENBERG argued this point for quite a time and that finally ROSENBERG asked him for some suggestions toward building a friendly spirit between the two nations. SNYDER stated that he informed ROSENBERG Germany should dwell on the tourist angle. SNYDER stated that even the advertisements for the Hamburg-American Line which he knew Germany owned could be made more attractive and original by German script. SNYDER states that it is an odd coincidence to note the eleven days following this conversation that the Hamburg-American Line's advertisements appeared in script. A short time later he met Dr. ROSENBERG and he asked him if he had noted this and thanked him for his suggestion.

SNYDER described VAN CLEEVAN as follows:

AGE:	about 40 years in 1934
HEIGHT:	About 6 feet
WEIGHT:	About 185 pounds.
BUILD:	Very erect and muscular
ACCENT:	Very heavy Dutch

SNYDER states that he was informed by VAN CLEEVAN that a Mr. SCHULTZ of the Hamburg-American Line of New York was taking care of Dr. ROSENBERG while he was in the United States and that SCHULTZ was considered to be an important figure of the German government.

SNYDER stated VAN CLEEVAN maintained an office at 25 Broad Street, New York City during 1934 but that he is unaware as to the nature of this office.

SNYDER offered the writer a letter written by VAN CLEEVAN to SNYDER in 1934 which letter mentions a young German engineer who was a friend of SNYDER's. SNYDER states that he had mentioned this engineer to VAN CLEEVAN on several occasions and that he is merely a boy living in California who is very clever in exploiting patents and to his knowledge he has never succeeded in meeting VAN CLEEVAN. This letter is being forwarded to the Bureau for examination by the Laboratory to corpare it with the handwriting specimens of known espionage agents operating in the United States. It is respectfully requested that this letter be forwarded to Mr. SNYDER at his Kingston, New York address following completion of this examination.

It may be explained here that VAN CLEEVAN's purpose in contacting SNYDER so frequently was defined by SNYDER as being an attempt to help him, SNYDER, secure capital through American contacts of his to exploit the oil and chemical company in Tampa, Florida.

It may be noted here SNYDER informed the writer that he is no longer in contact with the above mentioned persons and is not sure as to the present actual location of Mrs. BODENSCHATZ, DR. HANS SCHLERER or HAROLD VAN CLEEVAN. Mr. SNYDER said he was not informed as to whether these parties were presently in the United States or Germany.

Mr. SNYDER further informed the writer that he has been in Germany on many occasions and had always been a strong friend of Dr. HAERTL with whom he stayed at his home in Badkissingen, Germany. SNYDER states, while at Dr. HAERTL's home, he witnessed several Storm Trooper raids which were extremely repulsive and that on several occasions he has seen Storm Troopers kick citizens in the stomach until the blood ran out their trousers legs. SNYDER stated that on one occasion while he was in Germany with H.R. KNICKERBOCKER, it became so repugnant to watch these onslaughts that it became necessary for him to stop up his ears with pillows to drown out the screams. Mr. SNYDER informed the writer that on this occasion he found himself with only one alternative and that was to drink himself into unconsciousness to avoid witnessing the sights he

Mr. SNYDER stated further regarding CHARLES A. LINDBERGH and that on one occasion he saw CHARLES A. LINDBERGH ride through the streets of Berlin while a storm troop raid was in progress and that LINDBERGH was riding in an open car with a parade of these soldiers and that people were being beaten in the streets and houses set fire to and indescribable tortures taking place, and during the entire episode, LINDBERGH, whom SNYDER described as a grinning jackanapes, rode through the streets in the open car waving to people on the sidewalks.

In regards to the actions of LINDBERGH while in Europe, SNYDER informed the writer that LINDBERGH had been expelled from several English clubs inasmuch as the English could not stand his running down the United States and did not care to associate with him in a social way. It might be noted here that SNYDER informed the writer that he believes LINDBERGH to be a tool of foreign agencies insofar as the statements to the press are too nicely timed for one of LINDBERGH's limited intelligence. SNYDER further states that recently while in a London club, he became engaged in a heated argument with LINDBERGH due to the fact that LINDBERGH had been denouncing President ROOSEVELT and had been haranguing club members on the subject of America being a land of gangsters and thieves and cut throats. SNYDER stated that the alleged shy and reticent mood of LINDBERGH had apparently been lost after his arrival in Europe as he had observed LINDBERGH to be very garrulous and sarcastic on the subject of the United States.

Mr. SNYDER informed the writer that his home at 34 Lucas Avenue, Kingston, New York was open to this Bureau at any time and if, any time the Bureau should desire to go through his portfolios and letters pertaining to Europeans, both Germans and otherwise, with whom he has contact, he would be only too glad to co-operate and work with the agents. SNYDER stated that inasmuch as he is not familiar with espionage investigation, he cannot say definitely what he has that might interest the Bureau. He feels sure some of it might be interesting to this Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

For the protection of the United States, every step that Col. Charles Lindbergh makes should be investigated thoroughly. He is the worst enemy that the United States can have, since he is on Germany's side. Most of his property is in Germany. He translates all plans of defense made by the United States to German and then they are sent to Germany. This is according to what I heard from a German man.

Gentlemen:

It seems very strange to me, to my friends, to thousands upon thousands of Americans, that when every effort is being made to suppress and stamp out Bundists, Communists, and all who would impede and obstruct the war-like preparations of our country, that Col. Dear Sir

I sincerely trust that while you are investigating and rounding up 5th column suspects that you will not overlook C. H. Lindbergh, and Father Coughlin, Hitler's advance Agents #1 and #2 respectively. Their activities will bear close watch and present a real menace to the safety and security of our country. His spying activities in Europe for Hitler, and acceptance of Nazi Decorations, prove that he is unworthy of being trusted, and to have access to Governmental secrets of any kind.

President of the United States

Washington, D.C.

Your Excellency:

I enclose herewith a copy of READERS DIGEST (November 1939) containing the article "AVIATION, GEOGRAPHY, AND RACE" by Charles A. Lindbergh. This article, constructed on a framework of Nazi ideology, is studded with excerpts from Nazi and Fasc propaganda.

On page 66 Mr. Lindbergh says:

"But among nations themselves there is no similar provision to reward virility and penalize decay."

These words show a startling resemblance to recent Nazi and Fascist writings and utterances which stressed VIRILITY and VIRILE nations.

On the same page Lindbergh says:

entirely attached
"We, the heirs of European culture, are on the verge of a disastrous war, a war within our own family nations, a war which will reduce the strength and destroy the treasures of the White race, a war which may even lead to the end of our civilization..... It is time to turn from our quarrels and to build our White ramparts again."

This is the same Mr. Lindbergh who now calls for an end to "hysterical chatter of calamity and invasions." Could the recent successes of Hitler have lulled Mr. Lindbergh's fears of last November?

RECORDED & INDEXED

Further on (page 66) he says:

"Our civilization depends on a united strength among ourselves; on a strength too great for foreign arms to challenge; which can hold back either a Genghis Khan or the infiltration of inferior blood."

This is not innuendo or harmless double-talk; it is pure and outright Nazi phraseology, - the basic scum of Nazi racial theories and propaganda. It is time for Mr. Lindbergh to come out from behind his mask, to explain his continuous employment of Nazi terminology.

50-1144

I enclose a clipping from the June 20th edition of PM (local newspaper) to show that Lord Haw Haw, the Nazi propaganda broadcaster, warns the world that Germany will impose a peace that will forever prevent "outrages against the WHITE race"

The time has most certainly come for Lindbergh to explain continuous use of Nazi propaganda devices, - such phrases as "White Race, White Ramparts, Infiltration of inferior blood"

He states that our salvation depends on "An English fleet, German air force, a French army, and American nation, stand together as guardians of our common heritage, sharing strength, dividing influence." Just how would Mr. Lindbergh bring about? Would he suggest "Under the direction of Hitler?"

Mr. Lindbergh advises in the concluding paragraph (page 67) "Let us not commit RACIAL suicide....." He continues with his pattern of Nazi phraseology.

Charles A. Lindbergh, the brave man who flew across the Atlantic does not have the courage to talk openly; to state to his countrymen just what he actually believes and wants to bring about.

Has he ever made any sort of derogatory statement concerning the Nazis? Does not his very silence along that line confirm the pattern of what he actually is? Did he not recently broadcast the statement that we can get along very well with whomever wins the war in Europe? Did he not make that statement when indications were that the Nazis would win in France?

In "Mein Kampf" Hitler declared that through the process of repetition he could foist any sort of propaganda on the masses of people. Here in our country an alarming number of people have fallen for the "Lindbergh Line." The time has come for spokesmen for true Americanism and Democracy to tell the truth about Mr. Lindbergh; to REPEAT IT, REPEAT IT, and REPEAT IT until all America has learned it and accepted it.

Mr. President, I protest against giving to Mr. Lindbergh a sort of responsibility or authority which can in any way influence our country's policies or welfare.

Yours respectfully,

CRITICISMS OF FASTING IN THE

[illegible]

NOVEMBER 1939

Aviation, Geography, and Race

By

Charles A. Lindbergh

AVIATION has struck a delicately balanced world, a world where stability was already giving way to the pressure of new dynamic forces, a world dominated by a mechanical, materialistic, Western European civilization. Aviation is a product of that civilization, borne on the crest of its conquest, developed by its spirit of adventure, typical of its science, its industry, its outlook. Typical also of its strength and its weakness, its vanity and its self-destruction — man flung upward in the face of God, another Icarus to dominate the sky, and, in turn, to be dominated by it; for eventually the laws of nature determine the success of human effort and measure the value of human inventions in that divinely complicated, mathematically unpredictable, development of life at which Science has shied the name of Evolution.

Aviation seems almost a gift from heaven to those Western nations who were already the leaders of their era, strengthening their leadership, their confidence, their dominance over other peoples. It is a tool specially shaped for Western hands, a scientific art which others only copy in a mediocre fashion, another barrier between the teeming millions of Asia and the Grecian inheritance of Europe — one of those priceless possessions which permit the White race to live at all in a pressing sea of Yellow, Black, and Brown.

But aviation, using it symbolically as well as in its own right, brings two great dangers, one peculiar to our modern civilization, the other older than history. Since aviation is dependent on the intricate organization of life and industry, it carries with it the environmental danger of a people too far separated from the soil and from the sea — the danger of that physical decline which so often goes with a high intellectual development, of that spiritual decline which seems invariably to accompany an industrial life, of that racial decline which follows physical and spiritual mediocrity.

A great industrial nation may conquer the world in the span of a single life, but its Achilles' heel is time. Its children, what of them? The second and third generations, of what numbers and stuff will they be? How long can men thrive between walls of brick, walking on asphalt pavements, breathing the fumes of coal and of oil, growing, working, dying, with hardly a thought of wind, and sky, and fields of grain, seeing only machine-made beauty, the mineral-like quality of life? This is our modern danger one of the waxen wings of flight. It may cause our civilization to fall unless we act quickly to counteract it, unless we realize that human character is more important than efficiency, that education consists of more than the mere accumulation of knowledge.

But the other great danger is more easily recognized, because it has occurred again and again through history. It is the ember of war, fanned by every new military weapon, flaming today as it has never flamed before. It is the old internal struggle among a dominant people for power, blind, insatiable, suicidal. Western nations are again at war, a war likely to be more prostrating than any in the past, a war in which the White race is bound to lose, and the others bound to gain, a war which may easily lead our civilization through more Dark Ages if it survives at all.

In this war, aviation is as important a factor as it has been a cause — a cause due to its effect on the balance of strength between nations, a factor because of the destruction and death it hurls on earth and sea.

Air power is new to all our countries. It brings advantages to some and weakens others; it calls for readjustment everywhere. If only there were some way to measure the changing character of men, some yardstick to reapportion influence among the nations, some way to demonstrate in peace the strength of arms in war. But with all of its dimensions, its clocks, and weights, and figures, Science fails us when we ask a measure for the rights of men. They cannot be judged by numbers, by distance, weight, or time; or by counting heads without a thought of what may lie within. Those intangible qualities of character, such as courage, faith, and skill, evade all systems, slip through the bars of every cage. They can be recognized, but not measured. They lie more in a glance between two men than in any formula of mathematics. They form the unseen strength of an army, the genius of a people.

Likewise, in judging aviation, in its effect on modern nations, no satisfactory measurement of strength exists. It is bound to geography, environment, and racial character so closely that an attempt to judge by numbers would be like counting Greeks at Marathon. Some men and some nations have grown wings. What advantage will they gain? What new influence can they exert? To judge this one must look not only at their aviation but at them, at the geography of their country, at their problems of existence, at their habits of life.

Mountains, coastlines, great distances, ground fortifications, all those safeguards of past generations, lose their old significance as man takes to his wings. The English Channel, the snow-capped Alps, the expanses of Russia, are now looked on from a different height. The forces of Hannibal, Drake, and Napoleon moved at best with the horses' gallop or the speed of wind on sail. Now, aviation brings a new concept of time and distance to the affairs of men. It demands adaptability to change, places a premium on quickness of thought and speed of action.

Military strength has become more dynamic and less tangible. A new alignment of power has taken place, and there is no adequate peacetime measure for its effect on the influence of nations. There seems no way to agree on the rights it brings to some and takes from others. The rights of men within a nation are readjusted in each generation by laws of inheritance — land changes hands as decades pass, fortunes are taxed from one generation to the next, ownership is no more permanent than life. But among nations themselves there is no similar provision to reward virility and penalize decay, no way to reapportion the world's wealth as tides of human character ebb and flow — except by the strength of armies. In the last analysis, military strength is measurable only by its own expenditure, by the prostration of one contender while the other can still stagger on the field — and all about the wolves of lesser stature abide their time to spring on both the warriors.

We, the heirs of European culture, are on the verge of a disastrous war, a war within our own family of nations, a war which will reduce the strength and destroy the treasures of the White race, a war which may even lead to the end of our civilization. And while we stand poised for battle, Oriental guns are turning westward, Asia presses towards us on the Russian border, all foreign races stir restlessly. It is time to turn from our quarrels and to build our White ramparts again. This alliance with foreign races means nothing but death to us. It is our turn to guard our heritage from Mongol and Persian and Moor, before we become engulfed in a limitless foreign sea. Our civilization depends on a united strength among ourselves; on a strength too great for foreign armies to challenge; on a Western Wall of race and arms which can hold back either a Genghis Khan or the infiltration of inferior blood; on an English fleet, a German air force, a French army, an American nation, standing together as guardians of our common heritage, sharing strength, dividing influence.

Our civilization depends on peace among Western nations, and therefore on united strength, for Peace is a virgin who dare not show her face without Strength, her father, for protection. We can have peace and security only so long as we band together to preserve that most priceless possession, our inheritance of European blood, only so long as we guard ourselves against attack by foreign armies and dilution by foreign races.

We need peace to let our best men live to work out those more subtle, but equally dangerous, problems brought by this new environment in which we dwell, to give us time to turn this materialistic trend, to stop prostrating ourselves before this modern Idol of mechanical efficiency, to find means of combining freedom, spirit, and beauty with industrial life — a peace which will bring character, strength, and security back to Western peoples.

With all the world around our borders, let us not commit racial suicide by internal conflict. We must learn from Athens and Sparta before all of Greece is lost.

CLERKINE JOHNSON reports in the Los Angeles Examiner on the movie mother who led her gangling daughter into a producer's office. The youngster was obviously too big for the part. The doting mother apologetically explained: "Of course she is a little large, we just haven't been able to keep her from growing. But," she added proudly, "we have been able to keep her mind back."

FOLLOWING a slight quake the other night, Bert Lahr, comedian, complained: "My house is so shaky from earthquakes that every time a car rolls by outside the termites have to hold hands to keep the building from falling down!"

JAMES THURBER, the New Yorker cartoonist, attended one of the town's super-colossal premières. When they were leaving the theater Thurber asked a writer friend what he thought of the picture.

"I thought it stank," replied the friend in no uncertain terms. "What did you think of it?"

"I can't say I liked it that well," drawled Thurber.

Hints Lindbergh Supported by 5th Column

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator Key Pittman (D) of Nevada, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, today had suggested that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh might be backed "without his knowledge" by fifth columnists in his criticism of the administration.

Pittman, in a Sunday radio address answering Colonel Lindbergh's speech of Saturday night in which the flier declared this government could not long follow its present pro-Allied course without becoming involved in war with Germany, declared:

'EXPERT' PROPAGANDISTS

"The only possible justification for such a statement was his pronouncement that 'there are many perfectly sincere men and women who believe that we can send weapons to kill people in Europe without becoming involved with these people.'

"Colonel Lindbergh evidently desires and intends to stop the purchase of materials in this country by Great Britain and France."

He declared Lindbergh's advisers were "expert" on political propaganda, but that he should have sought other advisers on military matters.

CITES 'STRANGE MOTIVES'

Citing "strange motives that actuate man," Pittman said:

"Has Colonel Lindbergh unwittingly been led into an attack on the President of the United States? Has the cunning incident of his ambition blinded him as to the safety of his country?"

"Is the fifth column behind Colonel Lindbergh, without his knowledge, in attempting to defeat the present leaders of our country?"

THE AUTHOR OF DRAFT LINDBERGH FOR PRESIDENT or PREPARE FOR WAR, CENSORSHIP AND SOCIALISM and promoter of this plan to keep the United States out of this war makes available to a National Lindbergh For President Association the manuscript of this booklet for the printing of 100,000 copies in a de luxe edition, at $1 per copy. The net income derived from this will be retained by the National Lindbergh For President Association to cover the costs of its organization and to carry on its program for the election of Colonel Lindbergh as President of the United States on the Republican ticket or as the offering of a new party determined to keep the United States out of the current European war and European and New Deal collection out of the United States.

Chargeable to this edition will be its own production and distribution costs and the advertising program of the National Lindbergh For President Association as well as the general advertising and distribution costs incidental to the sale of the fifteen cent booklet, DRAFT LINDBERGH FOR PRESIDENT or PREPARE FOR WAR, CENSORSHIP AND SOCIALISM, at varying discounts after allowing the author the usual book royalty on the sales of the fifteen cent booklet only, the royalty not applying to the deluxe edition, the profits of both editions will be retained by the National Lindbergh For President Association.

Your agreement with what you read in this booklet will avail nothing if you do not do something; for Lindbergh Club, write - wire to the Philadelphia Convention.

permit a "war emergency" to double the national debt resulting from "economic emergency". Eight years of effort by the New Deal to cope with economic emergency due largely to our last war emergency, in measure as well as to direct the economic and ^{social} political future of the nation, have resulted in a new "way of thinking" in America. It is this way of thinking that is America's problem and a political obligation if not inviting opportunity. Indeed, this way of thinking, in which all must take care of each - regardless of the effort and prudence of individuals, has become the handicap of all the world. Social progress and security depend entirely on economic efficiency. Need and fear know no reason or reasoning, whether it is in a strong man forcing a weak man out of place in a bread line or in Germany's, or any other nation's, invasion of a neutral country.

The objective of this booklet is what its title indicates: to keep the United States out of this war, not any war. If keeping out of this war, reversing our "way of thinking" and preserving our "way of life" are problems of the people, then finding a man on whom the people can rely to keep us out of this war, who has not the "ripened political experience" of those to whom the real peril to our "way of life" may be attributed, is the opportunity of the Republican Party.

There seems to be but one way now for the United States to keep out of this war and that is for the Republican Party to nominate the right man at their all too soon coming convention. This it will do only on the demand of the people who do not want this country to enter the war voluntarily but on such a course that it will be forced into the war. The Republican Party name that man only if it is bombarded with demands for the nomination of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the only man who can capture the popular imagination of the people as well as their confidence, in a clarity of vision and purpose on the war issue and of a sound economy of which there can be no doubt - either as a candidate or an elected official.

In naming the candidate for the Vice presidency, it would be difficult to complement this selection. To assure a winning ticket, or at least unmistakably committed to keeping us out of the war, the Republican Party will have to find a man of the second place so well known as the first place head of the ticket that success at the polls, had he been the nominee for the presidency, would not be his warrant to follow out reserved intent or have so sobering an effect that he would then realize the peril of nation and of civilization if England loses control of the sea and of the world.

Neither party promises to have anything tangible and hopeful in its platform respecting either the war or the future of our economy. As to candidates now before the public, none have enough clarity in expression to warrant that after the election he would not be very definite about what should be our attitude towards a war in which America might lose its protector and democracy its champion.

The rush to get on the social security bandwagon which assures the people a living and final security, regardless of resources conserved or expended - individually or nationally, has changed the people's way of thinking. Propaganda has improvised another handwagon for the politicians ever on alert for a promising ride into office, and this is being rushed by those who would save our "way of life" by forsaking the problems of livelihood and security for the asking to save Europe's "way of life" and thinking.

There is nothing about Colonel Lindbergh promising another chaser bandwagons. He is not a candidate for the presidency. Possibly he might not accept a nomination by the Republican Party. This writer has no reason to believe that Colonel Lindbergh would be interested in this suggestion or authority to make it. Nevertheless, he thinks it is a public service to call attention to this opportunity of the people and of Colonel Lindbergh. Colonel Lindbergh has no knowledge at this writing of this booklet and program, nor of this writer. He may disapprove this drafting when he reads of it. But if there is a view of the war emergency and the continued sacrament of our economy which calls for the drafting of Mr. Roosevelt.

There is a better view of both that demands the drafting of a worthwhile opposition. After all nothing but the drafting of this sort of opposition will keep this country from continuing measures which are inviting Germany to send that "German-manned English" navy against us, regardless of what may or may be Germany's plans respecting us.

It may be that at this time Colonel Lindbergh might refuse to lend his name to this program. But in the emergency which confronts the nation that he himself so graphically depicts, he will not curb this independent effort to implement a nation-wide appeal for his leadership in this crisis by those who deny that circumstances are forcing the government to develop developing war policy but insist that we are being led by the President.
The press, the radio and politicians looking for a campaign shibboleth to a situation which they all earlier professed we should avoid. Regardless of the Colonel's personal desire or his appraisal of his possibilities of the merit of this program, it seems it would be his duty to his country if he is in good health, to heed a wide demand from the people that he offer an opportunity to vote yes or no on the vital issues which the candidate will discuss with more or less clarity during the campaign, respecting the European war and the broad principles of our national economy.

Already the Republican leaders are planning to have their candidates instructed by the national convention as to the nation's attitude toward Europe. All through the New Deal they have followed a middle course which lends itself to political expediency, leaving themselves free to follow popular trend and without responsibility for hard decisions and policies.
The outlook for the voters now is that the only tangible issue before them will be the one that has been the issue in every election for a hundred years the president to alderman; this time they are spending too much money, turn them out and learn how much more can be spent. Entirely aside from the denial
- now and after the people of any choice in being "just short of war" or being deeply involved lack of any opportunity to decide between the collectivism with which the American way of requires that the voters look outside of smoke-filled political committee rooms for leadership. Colonel Lindbergh need not approve this or read it. The voters will deem it ^{enough} sufficient that he repeat his message: that the war; that with his nomination European war leaders could not sacrifice lives in the hope of eventual war aid from the ^{East} states; that with his election they would see the New stopped in either third term or under critics of Mr. Roosevelt who would continue his deal with better results.

Colonel Lindbergh is as old in years as the leading contender for Republican nomination, and no statesman in either party is old enough or has any experience to have a sounder position on what should be our international relations and our domestic economy than the one Colonel Lindbergh has explained in a half-dozen public addresses. Karl Marx has been talking about the people and their economy nearly a century, never more effectively than now, never with more harm to the people and their economy. If Colonel Lindbergh is old enough to get us out of the war, he is old enough to save us from socialism.

Colonel Lindbergh with Mr. ~~Wilkie~~ or Senator Taft or Senator Vandenberg or Mr. Dewey, or any of the presidential possibilities now before the public or that may develop, if any of them in an unequivocal declaration of his mind and purposes as to the war can support the head of the ticket without doubt would give the Republican Party a popular slate. There is even no doubt that the Republican Party with such a slate would then be giving the people a choice as to the war and our future economy. Another element of this year's need of the people on election day is a chance to enlist character and courage in public service. The hurry by senators up to the front to get on the soldiers' home, the scramble by all for a seat on the next one at the politicians' service - social security and the sudden rush to board what the leadership of the President and the clamor of the press and radio have convinced office seekers is a bandwagon approved by the people, must convince the voters that character and courage in the candidates for public service are as important as a sound program.

platforms. No one doubts that the Colonel has these two qualities in abundance as well as good judgment, education and plenty of experience. The Republican Party does not try to bring these qualities to the people of war, peace, industry and government now so urgently needing them, a Third Party must make this effort.

This would be a different Third Party, knowing no North, no South, East, no West. The head of the ticket would be the important thing, not the running mate who may help in keeping us out of this war in his desire for complete isolation which, in itself, is far from what should be the United States' position in world affairs. To Colonel Lindbergh may go the credit who long before this war began declared that this country should keep out of the expected war, who do not want to enter it now that it is here, who do not want the nation to be forced into it after the coming election; who are unwilling to continue the socializing of our "way of life" in order that Europe's pseudo-democracy may continue freedom for the strong and subjugation for the weak.

The element bent on getting this country into the war has a fifth column all its own. Their Trojan Horse gains the confidence of a people resolved not to repeat a costly error, by introducing propaganda for the Allies with the preamble that this country is determined to keep out of the war; but the auditor or reader soon learns that "our way of life" is in peril. Some of the war mongers leave our duty to our imagination while others point it out to us.

Nothing outside of the expected has occurred since Mr. Roosevelt gave the assurance and Europe the warning or guidance that he would keep America out of the war. It is true that Germany has just invaded Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. It is also true that whatever may be the facts respecting Germany's claims that she only forestalled the Allies in this move, or what may have been the degree of neutrality of Holland and Belgium, Germany offers no excuse for her aggression on Luxembourg as she did not in her occupation of Denmark. Nevertheless the war continues the same war that was begun over the corridor issue, a war which was in making since the World War's Armistice Day and its Versailles Treaty. There is nothing in the history of all wars, of any nation in dire peril, or the record of imperialism today, that should assure us that England and France would not violate neutral countries if they ^{believed they} were facing the stark reality of dismemberment and impoverishment which complete defeat would bring to Germany.

Mr. Roosevelt's trying to keep out of the war at no time has had much "short" of being in the war. How much was Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal Congress trying to keep us out of the war when it changed a neutrality isolation to one of partiality? How much is Mr. Roosevelt trying to keep us out of the war now by trying to keep Italy out of it? How much is short of war in a hurried military program that nothing new respecting security justifies but that will ^{speed military supplies to} give immediate aid to the Allies against need of help?

As one side or the other may become more confident of victory, there is while that confidence lasts less likelihood of an immediate peace without victory. But that is no reason why we should not try for peace in Europe. The swinging of this pendulum of confidence from one side to the other should not decide for us whether we will enter the war or stay out. There is a basis for peace discussions if we keep in mind two facts.

and her demand for the return of her former colonies. Germany was making other claims for territory, having specifically renounced any desire for the return of Alsace-Lorraine as well as any claims on Denmark. In pursuing Germany's expressed desire for European and world domination, we are hearing not only Allied propaganda but England's determination to challenge Germany's rivalry in that domination by herself. For a Germany which had accepted the renunciation of the claims she was making while the present war was in progress, to proceed later at the first opportunity against France or Denmark or in any other direction for expansion - would be a desire for expansion impossible only in a world refusing to renounce all imperialism.

An immediate peace plan which would now concede the so-called corridor to Germany would not be handicapped by notifying Germany at the same time that all other Polish territory recently seized and occupied by her, except a narrow strip of land to the east of East Prussia - as an outlet for Poland, must be ceded to a new Poland. Poland's territory in Germany's control otherwise must be restored to a new Polish sovereignty, under pain of a democratic world's sanctions, sanctions which would be applied to both Germany and Russia until Russia vacates Poland, and to Russia until she cancels the treaties made since September 1', 1939, with Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Finland, and submits the issue of reparations to Finland to an acceptable tribunal of arbitration. The application and extension of such sanctions would be the inauguration and expansion of a new idealism of democracy in which not only Poland would again become a nation, but which would hear every pleading nationalism. No doubt a peace plan that would be acceptable by a Germany in no immediate danger of losing the war, would have included the return of the colonies outright, or under mandates providing for the eventual independence of all of them - as the World War Allies secured similar mandates for their colonies.

~~The Congress should make etc. etc. etc.~~
A peace without victory etc.

A peace without victory is still possible, even if the Germans Paris and eliminate France from the war. There is no need to make all's classical peroration the pulsating life of the British Empire
"a new world". In spite of all that has been said about out to conquer the world, or Europe, there is no proof that Germany such plans or that Hitler would spread his national socialism with there is no reason to assume that the sovereignties of Norway, Denmark land, Belgium and Luxembourg will not be fully restored. We do know any may do respecting France in the event of a German victory as we that the Allies would do with Germany if they win the war. We do know of all the powers Germany is the only one that has proposed disarmament herself if the other nations would disarm. Hitler may also be willing the British navy scuttled, along with all navies, instead of capturing and sending it against the United States. Hitler may also agree to out the former German colonies or any of the subjugated lands under democratic foes; if they will enter into an agreement for an open sea world in which no people may be control another; in which Germany and and England will be safe from any alliances; in which the United States be safe from an alliance of revenge from one direction, and of content another for a professed fear that could fight with ships and planes and sympathy but not men. Our present course and professed idealism be calling for this revenge by Germany, and this reaction by England sort of aid in a cause which our government is telling our people and countries involves the destiny of all nations.

A democratic, disarmed, free world seems more promising with Hitler Paris than with the Allies in Berlin. It must be remembered that the over the corridor only - not even the former German colonies - so far many is concerned. Cannot Mr. Roosevelt's idealism envisage in the ing situation in Europe an opportunity to satisfy Germany with what and nothing else, his chance to free all nations and races - even in idealism must pass. Why assume that Germany will still want it if England France and Holland and Belgium must forbear? Or must Mr. Roosevelt perialism hold its own through our aid and the increasing peril of no matter what form our aid takes?

The Congress should make heroic efforts for immediate peace in Europe in the interests of a world economy for which Europe would have to finance the war and take a military part if opportune developments permit. It should ^{be} in session as long as there are influences at work to keep American dollars and soldiers "over there". The kind of a world that can bring about an immediate peace, is the only kind of a world that will find "a place in the sun" for all its Polands, Czecho-Slovakias, Austrias. We can keep out of the war if our "thoughts" do not dwell too long on saving the democracy now in peril in Europe, on keeping Germany out of Canada, and the United States; if we think more about a democracy in Germany will have all that is German and England all that is English, no desire for anything else or opportunity to get or hold what is not hers. If it were a question of world-wide imperialism under England or Germany, doubt world democracy would come sooner through the imperial commonwealths and their subjugated dependencies. But no such dilemma is confronting us now, nor would we be facing it in the event of a German victory. Even if the German government in such a victory could take over successfully the imperial domination which England is finding impossible in a changing and advancing world, the German people would move with that onward world to a new idealism - A World Democracy of equality among nations and the freedom of the individual everywhere.

To avoid being drawn into this war, we must watch closely the influence of "inheritance", instincts and opinion among most of our friends on the Eastern Seaboard". We must watch the hands that would span the seas. It is that "our friends on the Eastern Seaboard" had the leadership in winning independence from related "inheritance, instincts and opinion" across the seas, and in bringing the new country to the premiership of nations in the past and present. But in one theatre of their service, our part in winning of the World War Allies and ⁱⁿ ~~through~~ our military participation in the war, they have cost their country more than all the bonds and communities put together, multiplied again and again. This influence's cousinship is the Englishman's personal everyday living, has carried democratic principles and moral values to every land; but in its determination, as a nation, to "carry on" in this war to victory or defeat, it might, in a selfless effort to have England continue her control of economy, its trade routes, and the destiny of populations many times its own, have England costing the world's democracy, morals and economy more than all the Hitlers, Stalins, and Mussolinis that can hold a temporary sway over ever advancing people.

If there is any column in this country with sufficient influence to affect our national policies, it is in the voluntary service ^{to} foreign ^{to} interests which is trying to get us into the war, never in any subsidized propaganda to keep us out. Our biased neutrality is aiding England to retain a supremacy in which some feel that we will be safe - notwithstanding that England is the only country that has sent armed forces against us. It would be well to realize that this is not the Allies' war, not France's, not even the British Empire's; it is England's, London's - from whence radiate the empires of government and economy. If totalitarianism should force this imperialism out of Europe, it would not move its headquarters to one of the Commonwealths - to Canada? Nor would it be succeeded by ~~any~~ ^a totalitarianism or a totalitarian Europe. Modern imperialism would be as dead as is Alexander's, Caesar's, Napoleon's. Even if it lingered, Canada would not welcome the wreck. Canada is a democracy, notwithstanding Canada's own "Eastern Bore of inheritance, instincts, and opinion" which has twice sold its life of adoption down the river for the benefit of its motherland.

ter -- sent armed forces against us.

Munition makers and money lenders should not be our fear; they did not start this war and they did not get us into the last one. Only of olden under an ambitious leader, or the influence of insistent propaganda, or apparent duty, brings on wars, wages them and sets the stage for the next one. Has not Mr. Roosevelt's course during this war been an effort to have us duplicate our World War role on a stage on which we must have a part? What is the role Mr. Roosevelt would have us play? Let us look at the record as a one-time political friend of Mr. Roosevelt's would put it. The German Foreign Office on March 29', 1940, released documents which claimed were found in the Polish Foreign Office at Warsaw. If genuine they would show that Mr. Roosevelt intended to have the United States stand against England and France and against Germany in the event of war. Genuine or not, presently inept, what is Mr. Roosevelt's position in the war that did come.

Mr. Roosevelt's reference to these documents at his press conference the same day that Germany published them, was that propaganda out of Germany should be taken with several grains of salt. Mr. Roosevelt could do more to inspire confidence in his own propaganda respecting what should and should not be our position throughout this war, no matter what may be the fortune of the Allies in it, by declaring that we will not enter this war to help ourselves or to save us from a victorious Germany, not merely that we will keep out. Mr. Wilson tried hard to keep us out, but in the same position which again is seeking to aid the Allies and to weaken Germany.

Mr. Roosevelt speaks of peace. But when does he want peace to be achieved? We are told that he sent Mr. Welles to Europe to get information. Is he now using any information which may be his to promote peace by insisting on peace as the right of neutral nations in a war which can no longer be localized, and in behalf of the warring nations own people with rights of God? Mr. Roosevelt wants that kind of peace so little that he abridges his own neutral rights. He wants a better peace than that, he would have a lasting.

just peace by aiding etc. etc.

[illegible]

The sequence of events in Europe rightly is our concern, but not new has developed there which should occasion a humpious participation on our part, influenced as it is by prejudices against one people and a misconception of the idealism and democracy to be found in the so-called democracies of Europe. Mr. Wilson's distinctions in the World War's death between nationalisms long striving for a place in the sun and those that were surprised with Versailles sovereignties have much to do with contending imperialisms and totalitarianisms in Europe now. The totalitarianism in Germany in no small degree became possible and somewhat necessary for the people under it through our suggestion of a financial contribution which was to ^{find} the last mark for reparations in the utmost yield of succeeding generations who had nothing to do with the World War.

THERE MUST BE SECURITY IN THE FAMILY OF NATIONS.

If there is one thing for which a people have a right to fight, it is their own sovereignty. But until the world reaches a millennium of universal democracy, each nation for its own security also must recognize a obligation to uphold the integrity of every other nation and people. No nation can retire into its own shell. A neutrality indistinguishable from selfishness and poltroonery is no assurance against entanglements. Each country has a duty to the family of nations which, in a world still resorting to war, might find its youth fighting on foreign soil. No nation can help civilization to end all wars by making it its first duty to keep out of a war. No nation can assure peace for itself only in the higher duty of bringing security to all by helping all to end injustice among nations and a grisly oppression of minorities everywhere.

We would have a part in ^{augmenting} creating and spreading a universal democracy without being partisan if we should join in a "concerted effort" in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality. But we must be sure, in view of European imperial alignments for the sake of power, that our instincts are humane not partisan; that in well as in the Far East we do not confound the right of conquered peoples with the problems of European statesmen. We can insist that territory remain intact, just as we may refuse recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and Albania, or of aggressions in the current Europe without becoming identified with the intrigues which would make the safe for democracy in the status quo of established imperialism. But democracy must be no more concerned with a Bohemia under Germany than with a Boer Republic that was blotted off the map. It must see no difference between the checkerboarding of ancient Egypt and the rest of a continent of 140,000,000 natives, a partitioned Ireland, and the thumbnail new boundaries in Europe. The democracy that was annoyed with one imperialism's invasion of China and another's of Ethiopia, must not be to war with the sort of democracy that can put the ignorant natives of backward continents in European uniforms to fight in the involved conflicts of a great theirs and to hold their own people in subjection to distant masters. It must have no part in imperial democracies which would associate themselves with a merciless blood-dripping communism to overcome totalitarianism as a competitor for commerce and power. The fact that imperialism was outwitted by this totalitarianism in a race to promote bolshevism, takes no turn from the one even if much was added to the other. A public more informed now will not allow another financing of European quarrels to be followed with our military participation. The ills of Europe, of the world, shall become our concern only in a new World Democracy, not in a general European conflict having nothing to do with our own affairs nor with democracy. Wars and despotisms of all time have delayed a millennium of peace and democracy. But for centuries kings and autocracies have been slowly but surely passing. The people and democracy are superseding them. Even the dictatorships and autocracies of Russia, Germany, Italy and Japan have passed to democracy because their peoples have advanced. Dictatorships all passed in accomplishing the objectives which won and retained power for them, they had a constructive part in civilization's evolution - notwithstanding the able and costly personal ambitions.

Whatever may be ~~the~~ course, the President, ~~led~~ in the Constitution with the direction of foreign affairs, will have in mind our part reformed imperialism which in the World War was to find a place in the through every nation a democracy committed to saving imperialism. Partiaship at that time shifted shifted the sun's shadows here and set them missing for America a chance to insist that all nations strive for some objectives, a mistake which now finds international idealism with no part as that can identified with consistent democracy. Mr. Roosevelt was in the councils of an administration which was economically perplexed and dipmatically beseeched as is his own today. In view of that experience, n-he nor the Congress should accept a partisan idealism which might find the first people once more pulling European chestnuts out of the fire, free-agent it were, not as an ally - now not as a member of the Allies' League of Nations. Free agents as it were, with no role in the inner councils of European imperialism or share in its spoils, but as helpful as though we kn-

Civilization must become aware of the problems of all minorities helpless under oppression, including the races in Asia, Africa and the world's scattered islands, against many of which nature itself has set insurmountable barriers. With all minorities ²⁰ vocal appeals for others as any may be elsewhere unprotected respecting its rights and wrongs, the world's minorities would have an influence which would compel the attention and respect which logic and consistency also demand.

When the rights of the individual are assured, the rights of minorities and nations will be free. This World Democracy would reaffirm the rights of man by holding that a nation which denies religious and civil liberty cannot cooperate with democratic nations in bringing to mankind life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and to nations economic freedom, political liberty and social evolution. This World Democracy will not deny to nations the right of self-determination, but will insist on the rights of the individual. A TWENTY-YEAR ARMISTICE ENDS IN A NEW WAR.

The "Treaty War" now raging in Europe is only one of many wars in the minorities within minorities of a ^{polyglot} ~~polyglot~~, heterogeneous continent frustrated nationhood for themselves in contentions over cultures which kept them all the easy prey of empire builders. A modern, more polite imperialism, with treaties on file in Downing Street that were written on threat of wreaking dire consequences, to retain the confidence of allied commonwealths, as well as for its own stabilization, finally in preserving a treaty which fortified the status quo of established imperialism, limited commercial competition and removed a military menace. Imperialism, engulfing both minorities and majorities in its long history quest for power and trade, hardly has the morality and idealism which claims have moved it into a war for a democracy that will protect all peoples, races and nations. Germany ^{and} its axis partner may not be democracies, indeed, they are despotisms. But their own peoples know their circumstances and will solve their problems. These countries certainly are not demonstrating the first and most unyielding difficulties. When its real problems are approached and resolved, we will have a democratic world that can sit in judgment on Germany and determine if its renunciation of the Versailles Treaty has involved aggressions as well as adjustments; how much of Poland's own self-determined aggression in Lithuania and Bohemia may have been only unilateral adjustments and, indeed, how much the adjustments of minority interests by the Versailles Treaty itself was aggression. How much difference is there between the German aggression and "economic penetration" which reconstructed Germany and the former Austro-Hungarian Empire in the interests of the people concerned as Germany sees it and the gerrymandering of a Versailles disintegrated central Europe in the interests of distant peoples and their "political and economic permeation" of most of the world as vested imperialism sees it? The minorities of central Europe will accommodate

A booklet on imperialism written before the European war developed and from which this booklet DRAFT LINDBERGH FOR PRESIDENT or PREPARE FOR WAR, CENSORSHIP AND SOCIALISM is taken, will be the nucleus of a new scheme to promote a

which will outlaw imperialism by an international pact freeing all nations and making war impossible.

THE SMALL NATIONS MAY SET THE WAY TO PERMANENT PEACE

Permanent peace among the nations and our own national economic security in that kind of a world can be expedited through the smaller countries rather than by the temporizing of imperial interests. A beginning might be made by nations like Peru or Switzerland entering into a tentative agreement with other small countries, or with the United States, to suspend diplomatic and economic relations with any country taking the initiative in sending out armed force - troops, ships or planes - from within its borders until advantages thus acquired are relinquished. When a sufficient number of agreements or proportion of the world's population has reached an accord, with the respect of those with entrenched interests restraining them from practicing real democracy, the compact could become officially operative. No force would be used. Once this convention of the new WORLD DEMOCRACY is in effect it should include an agreement among its members that none may send out a military expedition beyond its jurisdiction. The only way not to fight is not to fight. Winning and guaranteeing peace by fighting for it has been tried. This way is found wanting. The collective security of a WORLD DEMOCRACY in a convention barring military expeditions holds more for the freedom and sovereignty of all countries than any league which in the final analysis gives authority to its majority membership to uphold its decisions by military force. There must be no such super-power dictating to nations. In a WORLD DEMOCRACY no country will be subject to the overlordship or mandate of any one nation.

AN IMMEDIATE, A JUST AND LASTING PEACE IS POSSIBLE EVEN IF WITH HITLER IN PARIS

The following paragraph was written as a part of this booklet while most of the war observers and commentators were assuming that after the mortal and necessary losses in lives and property, the Allies would dictate peace in Paris. This is no assumption that there may not be so we are certain that terrific sacrifices have been made no matter who write the peace.

- booklet -

"An immediate peace plan which would now concede the so-called corridor to Germany would not be handicapped by notifying Germany at the same time that all other Polish territory recently seized and occupied by her, as well as a narrow strip of land to the east of East Prussia - as an outlet to the sea for Poland, must be ceded to a new Poland. Poland's territory in Germany's control if not voluntarily ceded by Germany must be restored to Polish sovereignty only under pain of a democratic world's sanctions, sanctions which would be applied to both Germany and Russia until Russia vacates Poland. A democratic world's sanction will be applied to Russia until it cancels the treaties made since September 1' 1939, with Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Finland, and submits the issue of reparations to Finland to an acceptable tribunal of adjustment. The application and extension of the sanctions would be the inauguration and expansion of a new idealism and democracy in which not only Poland would again become a nation, but which would banish every pleading nationalism. No doubt a peace plan that would be acceptable by a Germany in no immediate danger of losing the war, would have included the return of the colonies outright, or under mandates providing for the eventual independence of all of them - as the World War Allies set up similar mandates for their colonies."

A peace without victory is still possible, even if the Germans take Paris and eliminate France from the war. There is no need to make Mr. Churchill's classical peroration the pulsating life of the British Empire and the "new powerful new world". In spite of all that has been said about a German intent to conquer the world, or Europe, there is no proof that Germany has or that Hitler would spread his national socialism with any such plans. There is no reason to assume that the sovereignties of Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg will not be fully restored. We do not know what Germany may do respecting France in the event of German victory as we do not know what the Allies would do with Germany if they win the war. We do know that of all the powers Germany is the only one that has proposed disarmament for herself if the other nations would disarm. Hitler may also be willing to see the British navy scuttled, along with the submarines, instead of capturing it and sending it against the United States. Hitler may also agree to do without the former German colonies or any other subjugated lands under his democratic foes, if they will enter into an agreement for an open sea and a new world in which no people may be controlled by Germany and France and England.

Germany and France and England er; in which the United States will be safe from any alliances; in which the United States will be safe from an alliance of revenge from one direction and of contempt from another for a professed fear that could fight with tanks and planes and guns and sympathy but not men. Our present course and our professed idealism seem to be calling for this revenge by Germany, and for a reaction by England for that sort of aid in a cause which our government is telling our people and other countries involves the destiny of all nations.

A democratic, disarmed, free world seems more promising with Hitler at Paris than with the Allies in Berlin. It must be remembered that this is only over the corridor only - not even the former German colonies - so far as Germany is concerned. Cannot Mr. Roosevelt's idealism envisage in the existing situation in Europe an opportunity to satisfy Germany with what it wants and nothing else, his chance to free all nations and races - even if imperialism must pass. Why assume that Germany will still want it if England and France and Holland and Belgium must forbear? Or must Mr. Roosevelt have imposed its own through our aid and the increasing period of socialism in Europe? What form our aid takes?

AN IMMEDIATE PEACE WITHOUT VICTORY IS STILL POSSIBLE

The war between the Allies and Germany need not spread to all the world. There can be an early peace in Europe. America is in no peril. If we should find ourselves in this war, it will be because we involved ourselves in it. Democracy is not about to die. The shadow hanging over the world is the shadow always darkest before the dawn. There is a seeming pause in democracy's evolution as we must measure all evolution, but the pause is only the eve of to-morrow's world when all nations will be democratic and totalitarianism and imperialism will be of the past.

What has been delaying the dawn of that tomorrow is imperialism and totalitarianism. Autocracy rather has ever resulted in progress for the people. The reorganized imperialism of today is the receivership of the past and a harbinger of a new era. But America's immediate threat is not Europe's totalitarianism nor its imperialism. It is dictatorship, censorship and socialism here. Our troubles are in the political leadership ^{some of} in Washington and in the political leadership that now is trying to supersede it; in the social selfishness and economic cowardice which the New Deal and its critics are promoting among the people, in short - collectivism, socialism. This sort of idealism and economic inefficiency can sustain neither democracy nor imperialism nor totalitarianism. If America wants democracy for itself and the rest of the world, it must not allow socialism grow any stronger here under the leadership which is responsible for its greatest advance nor under a succeeding administration suggesting different methods to attain a more practical socialism.

Much of the political opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's leadership and the educational and religious life of the nation are forgetting the ^{and} economic problems created or augmented under the New Deal to which they are pointing, in order that a "united front" may give Mr. Roosevelt the opportunity and time to bring about in a different field the very thing he did he would "try" not to have happened and everything else that has happened, to do at all. There will be a "new way of life" in America, indeed, if the people would be impossible. The eastern democracies, yes - the world de-mocracies, which permitted what has happened in China, in Ethiopia, in Albania, is not the democracy, the idealism, to correct in moral grounds, and in the interests of religion, whatever may be wrong in Germany, in Europe, in the world. England and France in refusing to seek or accept an immediate peace disregard less the fearful costs in lives and irreparable woe for the living and concern themselves more with sophistries which support imperialism and their ensuequency in that kind of a world. Thus Western Democracies are preparing to carry on in this war for three years, or longer if necessary, rather than compromise with Hitlerism. There is much of Hitlerism that is not good; that to an outsider does not make sense; that is simply bad. But good or bad, how much is Hitlerism the concern of the German people - how much the affair of the outside world?

As the Germans see Hitlerism, they realize that a Germany without Hitler would be sending commissions to Paris every few months to beg for mercy in lighter reparations, and this handicap would have been affecting generations having nothing to do with the World War. There is but little difference between Hitler and his government and the imperialism now warring on a people long under a barrage of criticism victims of a hatred indigenous with some, and with others based on world war memories - many of them in atrocious stories so persistently related as to seem historical facts. This difference - to C - 6 the Poles would win a major corridor in this case, no doubt a correct analysis, and that his hurry intentionally killed any chance for negotiations through this dernier resort proposal to avoid war. It was agreed that Poland's sending representatives to negotiate, or to some neutral city to meet the Germans for the purpose, was not an all-important act but Hitler's lack of a corridor within the corridor was ordered months before without effect. The whole corridor and Danzig issue was ^{called both sides} before all of Europe before and after Hitler defensed it in a new treaty with Poland, before and after the world had come to the conclusion that the Versailles Treaty was not equitable nor in the best interests of democracy and permanent peace. As to which side fired the first shot the attending circumstances and what was the likelihood of any action in which Germany and East Prussia might have been reunited, certainly, except the findings of history as to the first issue and be guided by biases and prejudices in claims supporting the possibility and outcome of the second.

that a practical step was only a "strategic retreat" to positions. England and France will have much to do for these people and compensation to them for their present misery. There may be no compensation, for England and France, in certain of victory or defeat in long war, cannot predict what will be the economic, social and moral fate of their own people. When it ends, even victory may find their people dejected.
It is possible that the best way to save the western democracies is to accept peace now; not later, after a further test with soldiers in the field. not the statesmen, asking another Poland of France and Germany possibly, in land itself.

If the Allies are warring on Hitler and not the German people, as they are, they should not forget that there is also a wide difference between the government and people in other countries. If there is a lack of conscience about the responsibility for this war's results so is in the fact that English statesmen alone are responsible for Poland's present situation. Poland might have ceded Danzig and a corridor as the corridor on an earlier proposal by Hitler, who pointed out that Poland would make such a treaty but for England's advice and assurance.
However, may have been Hitler's plans to in one way or another recover territories lost to Poland in the Versailles Treaty. However much of all this region belonged rightfully to Germany, there can be no doubt that the Versailles-guaranteed corridor was the immediate occasion of beginning of hostilities.

but in the Allies etc. etc. etc.

But in the Allies' reaction to Russia's full partnership with Germany in assailing Poland's sovereignty, with English statesmen immediately excusing the Russian aggression by pointing out Poland's feudalism, the realization of that country's shortcomings as a democracy, it becomes clear to all ^{who realize} that imperialism is fighting for its existence, and it is Germany that England is warring on. Soviet communism's unexpected advance in this war, Polish integrity and even the Versailles Treaty, all revealed as matters entirely apart from the retention by England of its premiership in a British Commonwealth of Nations and of her military and economic supremacy that she may support this reorganization of imperialism and protect it from any possible assault.

English statesmen proclaiming their war objectives in positive terms respecting German aggressions, without the slightest concern regarding the activities of Russia, Italy and Japan, leave no doubt that the fate of the people would be but a cheap price in the bringing of possible foes of imperialism. History shows that bribery has been resorted to by these so-called democracies: We saw it in one of them in the American Revolution in India, Ireland and South Africa, and in both England and France in the promised partitioning of the Austro-Hungarian Empire after the ^{World} War.

There might be no war or wars today but for England's leadership in European and world affairs. The English people would be better off without these obligations. By giving her attention to her own problems and opportunities, with a running start of centuries of plunder from Ireland and a long golden age of Indian nabobs enriching the West End, England could raise her population of forty millions to an abundance and ideal of a sort not to be found in maintaining life lines over the earth's surface.

We are told that Hitler's word is worthless. But if Hitler wrote that a good lie may be employed to advance Germany's interests, so have English statesmen admitted that lies made World War propaganda interesting and effective. While Hitler seems to be taking advantage of his philosophy, he has yet to confess himself a liar. One would find ~~to see~~ the English statesmen whose propaganda during the war was obviously only propaganda, which would have been wasted in this country but for willing ears and ready tongues, were personal liars - one in his book admitted himself a liar. These men were of a democracy which provides for consultation and agreement with one another. But their agreement in seeing a need did not make these lies white lies. They were veritate lies which, with the aforesaid ears and lips, created a bias for the Allies that finally got us into the war.

Can we be sure which of the isms - Nazism, Bolshevism, Fascism, Imperialism - in the last extremity, with only lies, bombing, torpedoes, even poison gas as the sole avenue of escape or attack, would refuse to take advantage of these weapons? Do we know which would not? What difference between a German lie and an English lie, between Nazism and Imperialism, be decided on battlefields; with civilization lost in a victory, with truth and democracy established in an Allied success all, what is the difference to Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Ireland and the people of South Africa and the rest of the colonial world whether their overlords found it necessary to lie ⁱⁿ to excusing their deception or were open and above board in it all?

As arbitration might have been arranged even under German threat when peace was all but gone, can anyone say that the supporters of the policy which they themselves criticized are not largely responsible for the fortunes which have come to Poland? England and France and Germany all responsible for what at first evaluation seemed to be Russia's strategic, commanding position. They are all responsible for the creation and the political advancement of Soviet communism. They best can be said ^{of} the Allies' share in this responsibility is this: I might have been consistently right in their immediate objectives, have been ever wrong in their methods. The truth is they could not at any time have come into court with clean hands and they cannot now.

The inconsistency of England's claims to a truer democracy than Germany can be seen in the English statesmanship, and that means the diplomacy of the Allies, ~~a statesmanship~~ which, chagrined at the loss of Yugoslavia as an ally, turns to Italy with temptations meant to again induce that country to become a coworker in the cause of democracy. The lachrymose pleading of Downing Street for democracy forgives the greed and cruelty of vanquished Ethiopia and Albania. These crimes were not committed in a past time, but while Germany was insisting on territorial revisions of the Versailles Treaty. They were overlooked by the advocates of a better, safer world, not in neglect but in diplomatic consistency with the security of imperialism rather than the spreading of democracy. It is not aggression by Hitler which the Allies would curb and remove, but Germany's ascendancy which England will not allow. Must all the world aid one nation to destroy its economic competitor in a war, or will it turn to a real democracy in which all nations will be ^{secure in} ~~secure~~ that democracy?

Hitler could add much to the objectives of an immediate peace or justice if, instead of effacing himself as has been suggested, he should attempt to reestablish the German Republic, patterned more on the American plan.

He should be himself as the first president, a position to which he would in this case be entitled. It would be a good idea for all the great powers to mold their governments in the American ideology. They could then enter into a loose knit association of nations, in which all countries would be equal, each speaking only in terms of its own sovereignty, none holding votes for others and for vested interests. There is not much difference in the manner of the world's leading nations; none may moralize another. They all have to do in concert to assure a World Democracy in which all nations, the great and the small, will be politically free and equal. In this World Democracy

Nazism, Fascism and Bolshevism - localized in Germany, Italy and Russia will be liquidated by the people directly concerned. A world-wide and deeply rooted imperialism would disappear with them as would the remaining and Her Majesties, their patented nobilities and satellites of another day, and the way to nations and man.

World will bring democratic principles to the peoples of Eastern Europe and Western Europe - everywhere, to all countries subject to the overlordship, or mandate, or any one nation.

On September 7th, 1939, Prime Minister Chamberlain, according to the Press Telegrams, told the House of Commons that if Chancellor Hitler was counting on a short war in Poland to gain his objectives, he would be to disappointment in England's resolve to prosecute what he thinks will be a long war. But in the light of a real democracy that is assured in the evolution of all nations ever onward to a better world, and by reason of the present indistinguishable political, military and economic positions and objectives of the European powers, there is no reason why ^{one} of the efforts were made to end the World War should not be repeated now. This was an appeal for an immediate peace without victory. If the Allies under British leadership should refuse to consider such an appeal from the United States, their position would be due to the determination of imperialism to crush the would-be imitator, of one military power to hold the summit of political and economic advantage against all others. (insert here - abc- below)

Unless there is an early peace this war will cost millions of lives, ^{we will} millions of treasure wealth and the confusion of all society for years of deliberations and some - through the willfulness of less than a dozen men. There is something close to one-man power in other countries than Germany. Even in the United States Mr. Roosevelt, like Mr. Wilson, would become a near-dictator should chameleon-like positions ^{of neutrality} swiftly pass in imperceptible nuances from "measures short of war", to actual participation in the war. It would be -- It would hardly be refused by Germany unless victory seems to be a certainty. The only known objectives of Germany in this war are to secure the corridor and her former colonies and to save the nation from starvation and the German people from impoverishment.

Immediately on the outbreak of the war the President implemented a neutral position desired by the Congress in its precaution against any "avoidable participation" in a European war long impending. There is an apparent divergence between President Wilson's neutrality and President Roosevelt's in their advice to the people to support the government's position.

Nevertheless, there is a difference in the neutrality of Mr. Wilson's "thought" and that of Mr. Roosevelt's. Mr. Wilson's course is past his. What Mr. Roosevelt's might lead to depends on whether we will be as willing to keep out of Germany's way as we will be unmindful of how she might eventually get in ours. The circumstances which took us into the war of 1914-1917, and which did not get us into a war with England from 1914 to 1917, and which now, are again before us through the policies of both England and Germany. Already Germany has made the Baltic Sea a private lake. The Allies have done the same with the high seas. Mines in the English Channel and the sea and the outside ocean are no more merciful than submarines or airplanes. So is the United States. (chapter title) THE CHANGE IN OUR NEUTRALITY LAW

No doubt a flexible control of foreign relations by the Executive is desirable. It is true, too, that it is impossible during a war to find a position, however seriously intended to be neutral, that does not have special or adverse consequences for one side or the other. But, in the light of all our information, the change made in our neutrality laws while the war was being waged should have been by the unmistakable will of the people. In all the circumstances, their repeal was an unneutral act in that they were an enhancement during the war of the Allies' relations with the United States at the expense of Germany's. The change in the neutrality laws, incorporating the principles which prompted the President to call an extraordinary session of the Congress, denies a remote, uncertain beneficial influence to Germany to assume a direct and active aid to England and France. This invites retaliation, in measures fully known to us, by a Germany with more power than she had in the World War. There can be only the inevitable result.

If our shipping is to be kept from the danger zone, and it should be, the new neutrality bill should have made it evident that it is our intention to be as neutral as possible. We could retire all our shipping more completely than taking a part in the war or in helping finance it. We would be neutral if we should restrict any commerce with the belligerents. We should aid in any way one side without also helping the other. During the the safety of France, no matter how shipped, that these countries guarantee like shipments to Germany as far as their blockade would be concerned. To complement this humanity, the Johnson Act might be amended to allow credit for foodstuffs with this provision of equal opportunity for the belligerents.

When the President had declared the nation's neutrality position in accordance with the existing neutrality laws, he immediately began preparations for an extra session of the Congress. Mr. Roosevelt pointed to page - 16 --

at the opening etc. etc.

out at the opening of this session the little difference to the Allies if we refuse to export manufactured war munitions to them, as long as we can get the raw materials which they are now permitted to buy. Whatever the difference, the Congress was called to dissolve it. It is difficult for us to be neutral, to be secure, to be right in any course other than one which seeks to make all nations secure and right; not one which seeks to guarantee our own security ^{in an open, active partiality to the Allies}. We shall not be neutral if we differ between an airplane bomber and an anti-aircraft gun, between a submarine and a depth bomb. An anti-aircraft gun mounted in New York Harbor or is defensive, as we or the English see it. But Germany must view as a defensive act against her the results of this war-time legislation which gives its enemies to fight her. The majority vote which changed the neutrality laws will, in the logic and sympathies that motivated it, undoubtedly repeal the Johnson Act. How soon this happens depends altogether on the financial pressure on the Allies which a lengthening war is sure to bring, increasing embarrassment to them.

An influence towards ending the war should have been a motivation of our latest neutrality legislation. Our part should be to throw water on the European conflagration, not oil. As an act of mercy to the helpless victims of statesmen, the men in uniforms as well as non-combatants, the Congress should now give as much attention to the problem of stopping the war as it gave to this neutrality effort, in a resolve to have the war end ^{after} not ~~after~~ certain objectives have been attained, but tomorrow - today. Dictators and near-dictators of Europe must be made to realize that there can be no logic before the Throne of Mercy in all the sequences of diplomatic blunders, from Versailles to the first authorized order for hostilities in a new war, which can excuse a single supreme sacrifice as long as a peace without victory may be had in more humility in the world's great before that Throne. man and, most likely, ~~the~~ people from the ~~the~~ ~~the~~ of Europe imperial democracies. There must be a concerted effort to put an end to a war that cannot be carried on without harming all neutrals, in which own sovereignty is subverted in legislation, ^{designed} to aid one side; a neutral position which can but lead to our military participation in another war, in which nations and idealisms ages in the making will be but of Machiavelian statesmen.

In a peace without victory, or during an armistice, the democratic world ^{on which} ~~which~~ will follow this one, ~~THE LONGER THE WAR~~
~~THE Surer we'll be in it~~, would apply its sanctions to Germany and Poland respecting issues ^{related} ~~arising~~ to this war; severing all diplomatic ^{the} ~~and~~ economical relations with them until they come before some tribunal of justice.
But that peace would find Poland in the sad plight for which Hitler is from being alone in responsibility. Nevertheless, it must be in the visions of a new democracy that Poland be reestablished; not as ^{an} ~~an~~ incident result of a war to continue England's ^{position} ~~in~~ world affairs and as a link in a chain of imperial commonwealths.

Hitler, in an idealism which could not envisage the coming democracy that would give to Germany all that is German, or in an outlook which doubted this adjustment after the termination of his commission, was willing to stop short of war that he might reunite the Germany which battles severed. The Allies went to war to uphold what ^{that} ~~coming~~ better democracy would adjust - and in the loose assumption, or designing sophistry that 80,000,000 German-speaking people in central Europe were going to conquer mankind; that to reassure mankind they themselves would insist on a right which would prevent this in an idealism that has never abused

Let the so-called Western Democracies give up their imperial gains of the past and those they may have in prospect and turn to an immediate peace in Europe from which all nations may work for permanent peace. With this sacrifice by them a democratic world and permanent peace can come through their attrition of imper- to page -- 18 -- gence the American public. In his speech of last Sunday, he insists that the United States has nothing to worry about in the murderous rape of the small countries of Europe; that we do wrong to meddle with the mad Nazi drive for world domination; that we refrain from hysteria just because of a few million women and children have been killed, crippled and driven away from their homes to starve in the Nazi-made wilderness.

CAN THE so-called LONE EAGLE believe that his Goebbels-inspired suggestions will be accepted in this country that has read with sickened heart of his decoration by the blood-thirsty, democracy-hating Hitler? Can he be forgetting that only a few short months ago he gave the same message to France and to England? Does he expect us to forget the lessons of Austria, Albania, Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium?

IS IT POSSIBLE that he is so little an American that he would forsake the United States if trouble should come? Does he forget that with only a sandwich he made the Atlantic the path for a horde of bombers without a sandwich.

SUCH HEARTLESS statements as that of last Sunday makes us wonder if there shouldn't be more decorations due from the Pirate Lord of the Crooked Cross! QUO VADIS, Mr. Lindbergh?

Dear Sir:

We in America sat by in 1932 and watched Mr. Charles A. Lindbergh THROTTLE LIBERTY by creating the greatest case of LOSS LIBERTY the world has ever known, either by his ignorance;

Now we in America to sit by in 1940 and watch Mr. Lindbergh THROTTLE LIBERTY by creating just as great a LOSS LIBERTY, either by the dictates of his ignorance, ----or ADOLF HITLER?

We have a right to expect something of our Federal Bureau of Investigation. We are all entitled to free speech when that speech does not undermine our traditional American Independence; but when we are told by a nin-com-pon that, because we do not agree with his Nazi ideas, we are not 'enlightened' it is time to speak out. Most people will agree with me that this man is made of 'loss' of himself on two continents.

known aviators and builders --not pilots alone). I am

I have read all of the analects of Chu -Fu-tze (Confucius) in old and new books. He was China's greatest philosopher (and most of the philosophy of other great Chinese is borrowed from, or similar to, Confucius' teachings) and I cannot find where he (or any other Chinese philosopher) mentions: "When the rich get too rich and the poor too poor, something happens". He (Confucius) would have been the last to suggest that a bunch of brigands get busy and cut up in general.

The only place this quotation mentioned by Mr. Lindbergh could have originated (I suspect) is from Chinese or Japanese brigands, the mind of Mr. Lindbergh; or transplanted there by the brigands of 'Central Europe' who are cutting up in general over there now, as an excuse, in the hope of 'justifying' their depredations.

Dear me, does Mr. Lindbergh think he has a monopoly on intelligence?

There is an old saying Mr. Lindbergh has not heard apparently; but it is a good one; --- it is: "If a man is ignorant he will soon publish the fact."

"Central Europe was so poor" --Eh? Hardly knew where their next airplane, tank, parachute, bomb; and other nefarious weapons were coming from, now, -----did they?

I open my Bible occasionally and we are told by the greatest teacher (I am familiar with all of the pagan religions and their various 'deities', etc., having made a life study of them to better suggest my belief in the Christian Religion which came after) that no one has everything. There is always a 'leveling influence' in life and this applies to both rich and poor.

HEY MR. LINDBERGH SAYS IT IS NOT A WAR OF RELIGION --HE LIES-- AND NOW HE LIES!-- if --as he says-- he knows what he is talking about. If he really knows what he is talking about, then for whom he lies is as plain as the nose on your face.

We are not impressed by what Mr. Lindbergh saw in Germany. We know he saw only what Adolf Hitler let him see; he said only what Adolf Hitler favoured--- he got a Nobel didn't he? SIEGON is not FAIR in Germany and if he gave such and said much --by his own admission-- he is guilty of treason; --is not a true American-- and should have no more right to address a radio audience than Earl Browder.

After a misrepresentation of the facts in his speech as we know them to be (we, most of us, read the newspapers) Mr. Lindbergh closes on the mention of 'character'. 'Character' is a word of any meanings.

Mr. Lindbergh went to England late one night to 'seek' 'peace' and 'quiet'. The English gave him just that --peace and quiet--but not the SIEGON peace and quiet he wanted; so-----he went to France. In France he found more peace and quiet (FOR THE ENGLISH AND THE AMERICANS). He was so happy the English and French did. Some of the news Mr. Lindbergh hid out on long airplane flights the distraction of his 'detectors' and 'generators of peace' could do everything in his power to show them still over the old world but they were just too dumb to catch on. I don't mention the 'artificial heart' here than to say I suspect Mr. Lindbergh of 'wearing it'.

Mr. Lindbergh went to Germany, --and oh boy! he was made (or made) all over again. The whole world will back me on the statement that 'he has been going to town' ever since. That boy Adolf is no less publicity agent. If one has no qualms as to where his publicity comes from, I recommend Adolf every time.

I heard Mr. Lindbergh was to live in Berlin. But no, --after letting America 'muddle along' for nearly five years without him-- and hearing Adolf's report of the 'press' the democracies were making out of the country over here; ---he came back to SAVE us-- and the biggest thing --THE WORLD WAS TO BE RESCUED!

Please note that the WORLD WAS TO BE RESCUED for Lindbergh in America, 'stunned America' (after the Hitler Medal) was proving by leaps and bounds again; --and the scent carried across the ocean --(the ocean airplanes can't hope to smell)-- and seeped ever stronger into the nostrils of the WORLD WAS TO BE RESCUED as he was overcooled. Dear old WILLIAM W. WILSON, --dear old SAFE AMERICA beckoned.

Such as Mr. Lindbergh. But what has happened? Poor old America is not so -glib-. There are actually those who dare to dispute his word. He finds we have all become fools, --

He takes to radio. He argues against defense. The people shout him down. He comes out for defense. In fact it seems a case of not being able to wake up his mind, -- (or else not having a mind to wake up).

He is scared to death; we who wish we are not scared to death, we discuss of being about to ask King George to have a replica of his crown made to place on our noble President's head. He even 'crowns' our President with the accusation of 'subversive interests'.

Our President is a man of position and authority, (not by virtue of one spectacular airplane flight and the material gain which followed in its wake) but by over the years of tradition. It is the true American gentleman by birth and tradition with all the attributes of Washington and Jefferson. He has proved that he "can walk with kings for lack of common touch". This much cannot be said of Lindbergh.

We read about the walls of Poland, of Norway, of Holland. I can't begin to keep up with the various colors, and I don't blame me, as Adolf steals countries faster than I can count the colors. I am only trying to show how ridiculous Mr. Lindbergh is when he tries to convince us that Adolf has no designs on us. He has proved that he can hang papers on countries as well as walls; and we know that Adolf has as many designs on us as there were on the walls he used to hang on walls, before he (Adolf) moved up into the 'trailer' brackets 'that he so detests'.

Whether Mr. Lindbergh feels the 'swing' of America "settling along without him for nearly five years" and has come back to have a good time over the radio and taunt us with Adolf Hitler; -- or whether he is an agent of Adolf Hitler is not for me to ferret out.

We want no quislings here!

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover -Continued-

After yesterday's speech by Mr. Lindbergh there can be no doubt as to where Mr. Lindbergh's sympathies lie. Mr. Earl Browder's sentiments were very much the same. They are not the sentiments of good thinking Americans.*

I am attaching hereto a copy of a protest which I sent to The Mutual Broadcasting Company; excerpts from which Mr. Lindbergh borrowed, --or was it just coincidence?

After yesterday's speech; which should have been entitled KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR FOR GERMAN REASONS, no one can pretend he does not know where the 'Kunne's' sympathies lie. You noted how that applause 'slowed up' toward the last of his speech if you heard it. It was my impression that he destroyed a lot of the peace in the hearts of those who heard him, and I distinctly detected a stunned sort of fear.

If "A word to the wise is sufficient" in Heaven's name; I wish to ask the Federal Bureau of Investigation what America is waiting for?

I am

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MUTUAL NETWORK
(A Product of Reason, -Without Hysteria)

A PROTEST

I have before me, The Baltimore American, issue of Sunday, July 28, 1940; in which there appears an article by Karl R. Von Niegand, Berlin, Germany.

The propaganda is so evident that it is apparent to children. A young child of my acquaintance (child is the word) after reading Goering's 'praise' of Lindbergh, and Goering's "not understanding why and how in the United States there has not been created a separate air ministry, etc.", asked this question: "Would Goering like us (The United States) to have an Air Ministry with Lindbergh in charge of it?" "Out of the mouths of babes, etc."

I quote a paragraph from this article:

"Lindbergh is a great flier, a man of great technical experience," Goering replied. "He does his own thinking and I respect his judgment."

Just how does Goering 'know' that the honorary colonel Lindbergh does "his own thinking"? --Especially in these days of 'much pretense'.

I recall that Quisling's (of Norway) 'judgment' was 'respected' by Goering.

In view of the fact that both the Republican Party at its convention and the Democratic Party at its convention, openly decried intervention in any war other than an invasion of these Americas; --isn't Mr. Lindbergh a bit presumptive?

I PROTEST ANYONE MAKING A SPEECH UNDER THE TITLE OF "KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR FOR AMERICAN REASONS"!

I am taking the 'title' literally. THE ONLY REASON AMERICA WILL GO TO WAR SHOULD BE FOR AMERICAN REASONS.

I heard a lot recently about the teachings of a Mr. Bertrand Russell being a menace to the morals, etc., of our young should he be permitted to teach in our schools.

I am concerned for the morale of the children. In view of the greater number of children who can be reached and influenced by radio; it is at once apparent that the burden of supervising what the children shall or shall not hear cannot be carried by the parents alone.

I am also sure that most of us whom duty has held to his post, are a little 'fed up' with Mr. Lindbergh (and his desire to save us from ourselves) for most of us were taught early in life, those immortal words of Longfellow in his poem: The Bridge:

"And I think how many thousands Of care-encumbered men,
Each bearing his burden of sorrow
Have crossed the bridge since then."

A lot of us feel that when Goering 'admires' a person it is time to sit up and take notice; so, may I suggest that you use the time allotted to Mr. Lindbergh (especially the day being Sunday) to have someone read this poem of a truly great American who suffered a great tragedy, --THE BRIDGE-- for the object lesson it teaches.

I am sure that when, and if, America goes to war, it will be for American Reasons; --just as sure as I am that America's battles will be fought (and won) by the type of man personified by the man who meditated on The Bridge.

Respectfully,

America as in Madrid, is a group who love their country's enemies and who first argue and then fight for them. The German Fascists, as we are calling them, have "sworn to destroy the American idea." Germany under Hitler is thoroughly identified as the arch enemy of democracy, and as such is the arch enemy of the arch democracy, the U. S. A. On Sunday Col. Lindbergh first tried to frighten the people of the U. S. by saying "A war between us (the U. S. and Germany) could easily last for generations and bring all civilization tumbling . . ." then counseled "co-operation" . . . "never impossible when there is sufficient gain on both sides."

These are Fifth Column statements, naked and unashamed. They are preaching of the inevitability of German conquest, defeatism—followed by the suggestion that if we deal reasonably with the conqueror, he will deal reasonably with us. These are the things Fifth Columnists—friends of their country's enemies—have been saying for years now—in Austria, in Czechoslovakia, in Norway, in France.

way, nor his sly appeal to social consciousness with his Chinese proverbs about the rich being too rich and the poor being too poor. Lindbergh's genius has always been that he wrapped his poison in sweet reasonableness—the same sweet reasonableness that took Chamberlain in and led to Munich.

Lindbergh is a political novice. His speech was post-graduate work. Obviously, he was helped in writing it. Who are the people who did his thinking and helped in his writing? Who are his gang?

Some weeks ago I wrote in this newspaper that the reasoning of the appeaser argues that the mayor of a city should "co-operate" with the gangster if the latter gets big enough and tough enough and seems "here to stay."

This is the reasoning in Col. Lindbergh's speech, whatever group prepared it for him. This is the way Fascist Fifth Columnists work.

I denounce Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as the spokesman of the Fascist Fifth Column in America.

Dear Mr. Hoover:-

Just how long do we have to have Mr. Cnas. Lindbergh and especially his misleading speeches with us?

In a friends piano and radio store,
a few weeks past, I saw a young lady, unknown to the proprietor, bring in a high grade, short-wave, sending and receiving, radio set for repairs. The repairs were made and paid for, and no names or questions asked.

This incident looked peculiar to me although the proceedings may have been without detriment to the U.S.A. I did not know whether to say anything or no, however, when the proprietor and I were alone, I mentioned the situation to him and he figured that possibly he should should be done in situations regarding similar sets.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Chief
Federal Bureau of Investigation,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Here is a report, no matter how fantastic it may seem, warrants your attention and the meagre investigation required to confirm or explode its basis in fact.

Charles A. Lindbergh is imprisoned in Berlin together with his wife, Ann Morrow Lindbergh. The person now masquerading in this country as Lindbergh is a cleverly duplicated Charlie McCarthy brought being under the legerdemain of Dr. Goebbels.

It is being widely surmised that the Lindbergh who was abroad to live--and avowedly never to return--was metamorphosed into a full-fledged Nazi, who returned to his native land so infused with Goebbels' teachings that he has, here, become his unrestrained mouthpiece.

This theory is lent credence by the fact that his own father also was against war... a fact duly considered by the Nazi Propaganda Ministry. Too, it was reported from Berlin during Lindbergh's there that the flyer felt profound remorse at the unjust execution of Hauptmann..... He was shown how he could requite that great injustice and he did, willingly or under pain of penalty. These obvious truths are far short of the mark.

THE REAL TRUTH IS: The Lindbergh we are hearing from today is, indeed, a stooge; a man bearing a striking likeness to the flyer, though sufficiently different in a number of apparent respects to be distinguished from Lindy. I took some assignments on the coverage of the kidnapping case, from the committing of the crime throughout the trial. It was frequently said, but never published, that the Lindbergh baby had some embarrassing physical defects. Violet Sharpe referred to these defects and shortly thereafter she was murdered. I, like many others, never was convinced that that crime was solved; that the baby was actually WAS kidnapped. Here, then, enters the element of cooperation. The Lindberghs dare not talk; the Morrows dare not talk. But someone must operate that crime... by TALKING as DIRECTED. LIFE 2 DIN 65-11449-RECORDED & INDEXED

CORROBORATIVE PROOF: Little has been heard since the return from Berlin; Lindy rarely sees his former associates in Brookbridge by 'phone; to Mrs. Morrow by 'phone. Those who know Lindy's height, his shoulder line, his face, neck, head, skin and coloring; his lips, nose and eyes; his manner and modulations of voice and worked with Lindy in Detroit nearly 20 years ago. I knew him as the taught at the Page High School there. Since that time, I have

And I say in all sincerity--as fantastic as it may seem--
--THIS MAN IS NOT CHARLIE LINDBERGH.

It is all so ridiculous that no man would be so silly as to suspect Lagerdorn. Not even in view of the fact that Lagerdorn was one part in the famous Nazi Trojan Horse Trick. But after a study of Lindy and again of this masquerader, there is absolutely in my mind that deception has taken place; that the discrepancy between the striking that it cannot be accounted for by any normal change that might accrue from the maturity and rounding out that comes in reaching middle age--the late thirties or early forties; the various, individual physiognomy do not, and cannot, change in a manner to the extent that they have changed in the man who calls himself as Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

My unshaken opinion is that the man who addressed the malignant gathering in Chicago is a Hebbel masterpiece, that he deceived him so naturally, so convincingly, so without question that he disarmed our normal suspicions.

I am as sick, as bored and as weary of the Lindbergh case as Superman or as any man on earth. I am as eager and as willing to never be given another stick of space as, well, as you are.
I speak German, Swedish and American. He speaks my wife, German, Swedish and Swedish. Speaking these languages, then, how could that the current Lindbergh is rather a tough time with some especially difficult combinations. Whenever he says so, and he was brought up, it was not in Minnesota, but in Sweden.
Lindbergh benefited from sufficient education to read and speak Swedish.

I suggest, then, in all sincerity and humility that you make the checking on the Charles A. Lindbergh record--his childhood, his memory for happenings, his line of Lindbergh which no amount of learning could withstand. If you can handle your great record to the point of doing this, I feel certain that we will discover the greatest and the greatest bear ever perpetrated in the history of the world.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover,
Director, F. B. I.,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am enclosing herewith a paper clipping which gives the recent speech at Chicago, by one Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

There is also an article by yourself which shows a 10-fold increase in Fifth Column activities during the past fiscal year ending June 30th.

Myself as well as many other people that I have talked with are of the opinion that the COLONIAL is mixed up with the Fifth Column business, as well as probably being a direct spy for one Adolph Hitler, or at least his speeches and actions of the past year or so would indicate such.

This is off the record, but I have been wondering if the FBI in conjunction with the Dies Committee could not PIN something onto this VIRE and wash him out of circulation.

Personally, I believe that he is one of the most, if not the most, dangerous characters in the United States, because with many people he enjoys a lot of freedom and confidence, on account of his flying record, that others do not.

The above and foregoing is my personal opinion, and I trust that it will be food for thought.

Sincerely yours,

Cooperation With Germany If She Wins Urged By Lindbergh

Flier Says Opinion Of People Of Nation Definitely Against Involvement In War And Advocates Cooperation In Relations With Other Peoples Of Earth

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh said today that in the future the United States "may have to deal with a Europe dominated by Germany" and advocated "cooperation" with Europe "in our relationships with the other peoples of the earth."

He told a mass meeting in Soldier field, sponsored by the "Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee," that:

"There are still interests in this country and abroad who will do their utmost to draw us into the war."

Against these interests we must be continuously on guard. But American opinion is now definitely and overwhelmingly against our involvement."

In his broadcast address, his third radio talk in connection with the European situation and its effect on this country, Col. Lindbergh emphasized:

"While I advocate the non-interference by America in the internal affairs of Europe, I believe it is of the utmost importance for us to cooperate with Europe in our relationships with the other peoples of the earth."

"It is only by cooperation that we can maintain the supremacy of our western civilization and the right of our commerce to proceed unmolested throughout the world. Neither they nor we are strong enough to police the earth against the opposition of the other."

"In the past we have dealt with a Europe dominated by England and France. In the future we may have to deal with a Europe dominated by Germany. But whether England or Germany wins this war, western civilization will still depend upon two great centers, one in each hemisphere."

"With all the aids of modern science, neither of these centers is in a position to attack the other successfully as long as the defenses of both are reasonably strong."

Remarking that he would be "among the last to advocate depending upon treaties for our national safety," he recommended that the nation "rearm fully for the defense of America and that we should never make the type of treaty that would lay us open to invasion if it were broken."

10-Fold Increase In Fifth Column Work Is Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Espionage complaints to the FBI increased 10-fold during the year ended June 30, Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

Summarizing the activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the 12 months, Hoover said that with the outbreak of war in Europe last September, work pertaining to national defense "increased materially." Reaching a peak of 2,871 complaints on a single day in May.

The FBI investigated 10,885 defense matters during the year, compared with 1,051 in the previous year and 260 in 1938. Prior to 1938, the average for five years was only 35.

By presidential proclamation, all law enforcement agencies were asked to refer to the FBI any information relating to espionage, counter-espionage, sabotage, subversive activities and violations of the neutrality laws. In addition, citizens have been invited to "refer to the FBI information coming into their possession which they believe bears upon the furtherance of our national defense."

Hoover said that there had been "a negligible amount of sabotage (in the United States) in the second world war in contrast to a similar period in the first world war," but gave no detailed account of current sabotage cases.

He reported that the FBI had surveyed 270 plants turning out defense materials and had made recommendations for their protection. Eventually, he said, it is hoped to study 12,000 manufacturing establishments for protective purposes.

The success of espionage and sabo-

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Federal Bureau of Investigation

My dear Mr. Hoover:

At this time when subversive activities and columnists are alliteting against democracy, it is to the Federal Bureau of Investigation that a citizen of the States turns for protection against those forces which the principles of democracy on which his beloved country founded.

I have followed the activities and speeches of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and have been endeavoring to determine his relationship to and interest in the government. I believe he is using the prestige of his name to stir the German government and the German people to believe that the United States is in the hands of his being an agent of the German government.
to ignore this and as a citizen of the United States
I am sure you will not fail to take the necessary
